

SIERRA BLANCA | MARBELLA

VILLA MOZART

CLEAR LINES, CLEAN VOLUMES AND CONTRASTING MATERIALS

Ismael Mérida is the designer of this new villa in Sierra Blanca. The idea was to create an avant-garde and Mediterranean style, with the aim of making it stand out from other similar luxury villas, with a more powerful style, with more sophisticated materials and textures, as well as providing the project with a dose of sculpture and masculinity, in its proportions and ambience, which have defined its uniqueness.

The high-ceilinged spaces, both at the entrance, within the loft-like interior of the house, and in the porch overlooking the terraces and gardens, are the backdrop for a house on 4 storeys, with clearly distinct areas, from the communal spaces to the most private, with interior design as the language that links the grandiose nature with the welcoming atmosphere needed to live there.

Architect: Ismael Mérida
Interior design: Inhabit

www.ismaelmerida.com

